MEMBER’S REPORT
The quarterly newsletter for active and retired OP&F members and their survivors

Throughout the COVID-19 pandemic, essential operations at OP&F have continued, including the payment of benefits to retirees and survivors. Our offices will remain closed to visitors until state and national officials lift the stay at home orders that have been in place.

The OP&F Board of Trustees voted on March 27, in an emergency meeting to postpone the 2020 trustee elections to Dec. 1, 2020. The Board reacted to the General Assembly’s legislative authority granted to all five Ohio pension systems to postpone elections in Ohio’s coronavirus emergency response bill signed by the governor Friday afternoon. The bill also allows the current trustees to remain in office until each of their successors are elected.

The reasons the Board came to this conclusion are many. The “stay at home health orders” limit potential candidates’ ability to collect original signatures in person in multiple counties and submit and verify by the April 6 deadline. The limits on gatherings of more than10 people effects signature collection and the counting of ballots in May. Additionally, the American Arbitration Association employees travel from Philadelphia to ensure neutral counting of ballots and may be subject to local and state travel restrictions (in addition to the OP&F travel ban currently in place). Counting of ballots also requires more than 10 people (counters and observers).

These facts made it too uncertain that the election could be completed as required by statute in the next 60 days. Finally, OP&F staff is reduced to essential employees who must focus exclusively on paying pension and survivor benefits, processing service and disability applications, enrolling members in the health care program and protecting the portfolio, which funds the benefits.

The Board did not make the decision lightly and it is unprecedented in the pension fund’s history, as is this pandemic. The vote for the election postponement was unanimous with the exception of three abstentions. The three incumbent trustees who are up for re-elections were the abstentions. None of the three is seeking re-election to their current seat.

When new dates and deadlines are established, they will be posted on the OP&F website.
MESSAGE FROM THE EXECUTIVE DIRECTOR

Dear Members,

As we have said on numerous occasions, the primary mission for OP&F is to provide the promised pension and disability benefits to our members who have earned them through careers of protecting our communities. This is still our mission, regardless of the circumstances in which we live.

The COVID-19 virus outbreak has touched all of our lives and routines. We have adjusted, become more cautious and aware. At OP&F, we are using contingency plans that have been in place for years, but never put into practice like they have recently.

We have many different procedures and operations within our organization, but the first one we examined was how to do everything possible to make sure benefit payments continued to reach our retirees. The processes in place work, and we expect no disruptions in benefits. We expect electronic transfers to take place on time and reach your financial institutions. We also expect that these banks and credit unions continue business, although we obviously cannot control their operations.

After providing benefits, many other important functions are addressed to keep OP&F running. Processing member enrollments and retirements, Deferred Retirement Option Plan participations and disbursements and monitoring the health care stipend plan are all crucial. Likewise, managing our investment portfolio is vital, especially in these turbulent financial times.

We all hope that the coronavirus pandemic will be under control soon. We also hope that the precautions put in place across our society were prudent and helped relieve the pressure put on our nation’s health care system – and to our first responders, who continue to protect us all.

I wish you all good health as we continue to manage our operations to serve you.

Sincerely,

John J. Gallagher, Jr.
Executive Director

CORRECTION:

The winter 2020 Member’s Report newsletter incorrectly stated that Deferred Retirement Option Plan (DROP) accruals included a portion of employer contributions. Only a portion of the member contributions are included in the accrual. We regret this error, and the online edition of the newsletter was corrected on Jan. 10.
The economic impact of the pension fund serving Ohio’s retired firefighters and police officers totaled more than $1.8 billion and supported more than 14,000 jobs in 2018, according to a study commissioned by the Ohio Police & Fire Pension Fund (OP&F).

The study, conducted by the University of Cincinnati Economic Center, shows that defined benefit retirement plans like OP&F are of value not only to its members, but also to the overall economy of Ohio. The data in the report provides important data for key decisions-makers – primarily state representatives and senators, who make the laws prescribing how public pensions are funded and governed.

“This study is another indicator of the value of retirement systems like OP&F,” said John Gallagher, OP&F executive director. “These numbers show how much these members continue to give back, even in retirement. After a career of protecting our communities as police officers and firefighters, the way they use these benefits are tremendous and consistent in helping to fuel our state’s economy.”

Among other findings, the study revealed that:

- In 2018, OP&F activity resulted in more than $1.829 billion in total economic output in Ohio and supported 14,393 jobs across the state. The jobs supported had an average annual income of nearly $43,000.

- OP&F has compiled an enviable record in growing its total investment portfolio, which rose from $2.9 billion in 1967 to nearly more than $16 billion in Jan. 2020.

- In 2018, OP&F provided $1.172 billion in benefits to retired members. $1.009 billion of this amount was to members residing in Ohio.

- Eighty-four percent of OP&F retirees remain in Ohio, meaning they spend their benefits locally.

OP&F’s ongoing operations and capital expenditures also generate millions of dollars of spending and support hundreds of jobs in the Ohio economy. The Ohio Police and Fire Pension Fund paid 149 employees $10.6 million in earnings in 2018 and spent an additional $53.0 million on professional services, communications, and other products and services vital to its daily operations. Together with annual capital expenditures of approximately $1.0 million, OP&F’s direct impacts on the Ohio economy in 2018 included $64.6 million in output, 153 jobs supported, and $11.0 million in earnings. The direct spending spurred indirect impacts of $81.9 million in output, 257 jobs supported, and $17.8 million in earnings. Total economic impacts to Ohio of OP&F’s operations and capital expenditures in 2018 included $146.6 in output, 410 jobs supported, and $28.7 million in earnings.

To arrive at state and district impacts, the study analyzed raw data provided by OP&F to calculate direct impacts – the “face value” of pension benefits, salaries and other outputs into the economy. However, each time a dollar is spent within the community it enables additional economic activity to occur, including the creation of jobs. To measure the total economic impact of OP&F, the University of Cincinnati Economics Center applied economic multipliers provided by Economic Modeling Specialists International (EMSI). EMSI maintains an input-output model that produces industry- and region-specific multipliers that quantify the changes in jobs, earnings, and output resulting from a change in economic activity.

At the time of your retirement, you will probably have the option of continuing on your employer’s health plan for at least 18 months, thanks to a federal law called the Consolidated Omnibus Budget Reconciliation Act (COBRA). You will be eligible to receive the OP&F stipend while maintaining your COBRA plan until the next Affordable Care Act enrollment period or until the expiration of your COBRA plan, whichever you prefer. However, you must enroll in a major medical qualified health plan through Aon, eHealth or the Insurance Marketplace within 60-days of your COBRA expiration to continue to be eligible for OP&F’s stipend.

After COBRA

When enrolling in OP&F’s health care program, you will have flexibility and access to a variety of health insurance and prescription drug plan options, as well as dental and vision coverage. In addition to having greater flexibility to choose a health plan, eligible retirees will continue to receive the OP&F stipend through a Health Reimbursement Arrangement (HRA) to help offset the cost of health care. To begin receiving the OP&F stipend, you must submit to OP&F a completed Health Care Stipend Eligibility form along with proof of COBRA coverage listing the names of all enrolled, coverage effective date and end date. OP&F will acknowledge receipt of the form and request any additional documentation.

Approximately 90-days prior to the expiration of your COBRA plan OP&F will contact you requesting proof of enrollment in a major medical qualified health plan. To continue to be eligible to receive OP&F’s stipend you must submit proof of enrollment that includes the following:

- Documentation from the new carrier which includes the name of the plan enrolled in;
- Names of the participants enrolled in the plan;
- Effective dates of coverage for the enrolled participants in the plan;
- OP&F’s Health Care Stipend Eligibility form.

To make the transition from your COBRA plan a smooth one, Aon and eHealth can help you compare plans, get answers and assist you in selecting and enrolling in a plan. However, if you enroll in a plan through the Insurance Marketplace you will need to submit proof of coverage to OP&F and you will no longer have advocacy through Aon or eHealth with claim problems or other carrier issues.

Disability Applicants

Disability applicants are encouraged to apply for COBRA coverage through their employer for health care. Once employment ends there may be a gap between when the employer’s health care coverage expires and eligibility to enroll in a plan through OP&F. Obtaining COBRA coverage will prevent a lapse in coverage while a disability application is being considered. COBRA premiums are also a stipend-eligible expense.

To qualify for a stipend from OP&F you must become eligible for the OP&F health care stipend during the next open enrollment period. If you do not become eligible during the next open enrollment period, you will need to remain on COBRA until the contract period ends.

90 DAY NOTICE RECOMMENDED FOR SUBMITTING SERVICE RETIREMENT PAPERWORK

With the changes in retiree health care over the past year, OP&F now recommends that members who will be retiring submit their applications at least 90 days before their anticipated separation from their employer.

The 90 days allows the member adequate time to shop and enroll in a health care plan through the Aon Retiree Health Exchange. Members who file retirement applications closer to their actual retirement date may risk a lapse in health care coverage since the coverage from their employer may end before the effective date of a new policy.

SECURE ACT CHANGES AGE FOR WITHDRAWALS

For tax years beginning after 2019, a new federal law repeals the age restrictions concerning mandatory withdrawals to many types of retirement savings plans. The Secure Act, or the Setting Every Community Up for Retirement Enhancement, was signed into law in December 2019.

Americans will no longer be required to withdraw assets from IRAs and 401(k)s at age 70½. This includes Deferred Retirement Option Plan accruals for OP&F members. These Required Minimum Deductions, or RMDs, will now begin at age 72, including individuals who turn 70½ in the calendar year 2020.

If you turned age 70½ in 2019 and have already begun taking your RMDs, you should generally continue to take your RMDs. The IRS may provide further guidance on this point, so you might want to speak with your tax advisor regarding any 2020 distributions.
